

INSTITUTE of CURRENT WORLD AFFAIRS
established 1925

For over ninety years, the Institute of Current World Affairs has sent young women and men abroad to acquire deep knowledge of foreign countries and cultures—a mission as important today as when ICWA was founded in 1925. Institute fellows have become some of our country's leading experts in foreign affairs, based on the unique fellowships first designed by our founders Charles R. Crane and Walter Rogers. We continue their tradition with your support.

ICWA FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS: DAVID MIXNER LGBTQ+ FELLOWSHIP

The Institute of Current World Affairs is accepting letters of interest for a two-year independent writing fellowship abroad from candidates interested in examining challenges facing global LGBTQ+ rights and local experiences of LGBTQ+ people and other minorities.

The fellow would be based in one of the following possible regions: Eastern Europe, the Middle East, Francophone Africa or Asia (especially China, Taiwan or Singapore).

This year, we will appoint one new fellow for 2023-2025 in December 2022. Letters of interest are due by June 15, 2022. Selected candidates will be asked to submit full applications by August 31, 2022.

The fellowship

The Institute of Current World Affairs advances American understanding of international cultures and affairs by sending outstanding young professionals abroad to study countries, regions and globally important issues. They have become some of this country's leading journalists, scholars, diplomats, activists and businesspeople. ICWA nurtures the kind of deep understanding future generations will need to ensure America's role in the world is informed by wisdom, foresight and compassion.

The institute frees fellows from the routine of their professional lives through a unique two-year cultural immersion fellowship launched nearly a century ago. Fellows are given the time and resources to explore the world through self-designed programs of study, thought and writing. They undertake research and analysis, producing monthly dispatches, and go on to make vital contributions to their fields.
